Plebiscites.

[From the Pall Mall Gazette.]

The ceremony known as a plebiscite has been once more performed, and with the usual result. No more light has been thrown upon the problem, What would happen if, in parliamentary phrase, the "noes" were to have it? More and more the expedient looks like the working of a charm. It is a plan for averting the evil eye; the malign influence of revolutionists is quenched by ostensible homage to their principles. So far as we are acquainted with plebiscites in Europe they are more or less shams, and show themselves to be exceedingly apt instruments of tyranny, bribery and corruption. And there is also the serious question, What would be the real value of a plebiscite if it were in reality what it professes to be? Supposing that a considerable majority of the adult male population at a given time is in favor of changing its allegiance or its form of government, ought the change to be made? Roman Catholics, for instance, urge that the actual inhabitants of the Roman Catholic States were by no means the only persons interested in the downfall of the temporal power. The whole two hundred millions, or whatever the correct number may be, of the Pope's spiritual subjects had some claim to be consulted. It cannot be doubted that the fortunes of the whole church are materially affected for good or evil by the change which has just taken place. Is it right that the Irishman and Spaniard should be set aside in a matter so closely connected with their deepest interests? The extremest adherents of the rights of man would scarcely maintain that the people settled at any given time upon any given fragment of the earth's surface have an indefensible right to deal with it precisely as pleases them without reference to their neighbors. No advocate of State rights would have said that the District of Columbia might set up for itself whenever it chose, as an independent power, or transfer itself to the English rule. And Rome may be said to occupy in regard to the Catholic church a position somewhat analogous to that of Washington in the United States. The true justification for the recent annexation must be sought for elsewhere. The Roman Catholic argument must be traversed and not set aside as irrelevant. It may be maintained that the suppression of the temporal power is a good thing for the world at large as well as for the people of Rome. That, at any rate, and not any supposed sovereignty of the Roman people, is the consideration to which statesmen will pay attention.

In America a plebiscite is not a mere temporary expedient, but a recognized legal practice. An appeal to the people is necessary and final, in all cases of fundamental change of the constitution. The people of the southern States expressed their desire to separate from the federal government by votes which were altogether free from the suspicion naturally attaching to European plebiscites. The popular will was incomparably less ambiguous than the will of the people of Nice or Savoy or Rome. The people of the northern States replied in substance that such a plebiscite would only be valid if the whole population of the United States were invited to give its opinion. The voters throughout the country were perfectly capable of amending the constitution on such terms as might seem good to them; but it was denied that any section of the nation was at liberty to take independent action in the matter. The whole controversy so far as it was capable of being argued on purely legal grounds, depended upon which of those theories was most in accordance with the Constitution. If it be taken on higher grounds, it is plain that the contention of the northern States was at least to the point. They might fairly claim to be consulted when it was proposed to dismember the country, and thereby produced consequences of inestimable importance to every part of it. Whether their view of those consequences was right or wrong is another matter; but at least they could not be expected to sit down with their hands folded and make no attempt to give effect to their opinion in a matter of vital interest to themselves. In short, there always exists one fundamental question which the contrivers of plebiscites never trouble themselves to consider. Who are the people who ought to be consulted? Should not Italy have been asked whether it was willing to give up Nice? and France whether it was willing to accept Nice? and even the powers of Europe whether they were willing to consent to such a transfer of territory, as well as the people of Nice whether they did or did not wish to be transferred? Of course we get into regions far above any mere questions of law. No system of popular voting can possibly be called into play until we have the much desired United States of Europe. The question really depends upon whether the nations as they are actually instituted choose to sanction the change, and in the ultimate appeal whether they are willing or able to bring it about or prevent it by the employment of physical force. The machinery of plebiscites is little more than a device for scattering dust in the air and concealing the true nature of the forces at work below. Rome is really to become Italian, not because one or two hundred thousand Romans wish it, and only a few hundreds object to it, but because the powers which dispose of the greatest number of bayonets and cannon are willing or desirous that the change should take place.

It may, however, still be argued that it is desirable that such a process should be permitted. Strip the Roman plebiscite of all its affectation of legitimate, legal validity, and it will come to something of this kind: The Italian Government have been able to annex Rome by physical force, owing partly to their own capacity, partly to the connivance of certain powers, the indifference of some and the impotence of others. They wish, however, to show that one element from which fair observers must form a judgment of the merits of the case is in their favor, namely, the wishes of the population most immediately and deeply interested. They, therefore, allow the Roman people to go through a form which apes more or less successfully a legitimate legal process, but which is practically a means of popular demonstration. It comes to much the same thing as any other manifestation of sentiment—the erection of triumphal arches, the presentation of addresses or the letting off of fireworks. There is not very much in it, but, after all, it is a kind of faint recognition of a good principle, a homage paid by arbitrary power to popular sentiment. Is it well that the real forces at work should be acknowledged with cynical indifference, or that some kind of decent veil should thus be thrown over their true nature?

It is probable that within a few weeks the Germans will annex Lorraine and Alsace. We can hardly expect that Count Bismarck will ask for the suffrages of the population. On the contrary, he would probably prefer to do without them, if they could be had. The principle is not one that it would be at all convenient for him to admit, even though it presented an immediate important advantage. The Prussian monarchy is not founded upon the doctrine of popular sovereignty, and probably its ministers have a decided objection to admit that it could ever be rightfully applied. The German people claim French territory with an ostentatious disregard of the wishes of the French population. They maintain, with some honorable exceptions, that, as the territory will be useful to them they will not condescend to inquire whether their government will be advantageous to the territory. If the prevailing fashion of plebiscites could have been applied, the usurpation would have been a little less barefaced than it will otherwise be, and that is all. We shall now see distinctly that, like the partition of Poland, it will be simply an act of despotic power, with bayonets for arguments and generals for judges. Is it desirable that a naked display of physical force should be made in the most open manner, or that some thin shadow of respect should be paid to the proprieties? We do not pretend to decide such a complex question for Count Bismarck, whose views on such questions are very old fashioned indeed. But it is clearly desirable that the wishes of a population about to be annexed should be respected, and the introduction of plebiscites may mark the dawn of a better day. At the same time, it must be admitted that at present the expedient is too easily worked by fraud and mystification to be of much comfort or substantial advantage to the world at large.

John Bull Waking up on the Fishery Question.

HE THINKS GEN. BUTLER CARES NOTHING FOR COD, BUT ONLY WANTS TO MAKE TROUBLE—THE COUNTRY SQUIRE'S VIEW OF INTERNATIONAL JUSTICE.

[From the London Economist, Nov. 12.]

If the American correspondent of the Times has analyzed Gen. Butler's recent speech to his Massachusetts constituents with any approach to fairness—and his analysis seems full enough—a more wicked speech was never uttered in a political assembly. It is a deliberate attempt to obtain popularity by risking war on a totally inadequate ground. The "fishery" question, whenever it arises between nations, is as dangerous as the poaching question is between classes, and for precisely the same reason—namely, that the mass of mankind never fairly realize that sea-fish or wild game are property at all. Nobody feeds them; nobody owns them; there is supposed to be no end of them—though that is a dangerous delusion—and everybody thinks if he takes trouble to get them he has a right to have them. As in the poaching dispute also, the popular feeling about sea-fish comes right athwart a very strict law. The fish caught within the three-mile limit belong to the nation which owns the coast, and which, therefore, can either keep the fisheries to itself or can, as most nations do, sell licenses to fish. This rule would be sufficiently clear to enlist the sympathies of all owners of property, but that there is a dispute, never completely settled, as to the method of drawing the three mile line. Is it to be measured from low-water mark, and so follow all indentations of the coast? or is all water included by a straight line from headland to headland to be considered within the three miles? Those who want to fish prefer the more rigid, and those who want to prevent fishing the more ample measurement, and both parties contest the point with a feeling that they are being violently oppressed, and contemptible as the subject matter of quarrel is, are sure to be in a temper for fighting rather than arbitration. As it happens, Massachusetts is especially angry just now. Many of her citizens are fishermen; their favorite "banks" lie off the Canadian shore, and they have lost nearly thirty vessels, which have been seized and condemned by the Canadians for trespassing within the prescribed line. The Canadians are probably in the right, and if not, the matter is one to be submitted to a judicial commission of the two countries; but Gen. Butler, simply to make his election easier, seizes upon it, makes inflammatory speeches, declares that England is robbing the people of Massachusetts of their fish, and calls on them to break off all negotiations with the "unfriendly Government which is scheming," by means of fish, to build up a hostile nation north of the United States. We must allow, of course, for the necessities of oratory, and for American delight in exaggeration; but this man, who may be the leader, and will certainly be one of the leaders, of his party, is clearly doing his best to stir up discord between the two most powerful maritime nations for his selfish interest—is risking a war which would be pure injury to the world and his own people, in order to secure a triumphant election. He does not care about a few trumpery cod any more than Englishmen do, but he knows that men grow bitter on any subject of the kind; and, as an English demagogue risks exciting a spirit of agrarian outrage by nonsensical declamation about hares, so General Butler risks a horrible war with England by declaring that England is "scheming" to injure the Union by protecting cod.

We suppose there is no help for this kind of thing, but we never can get over a sense of surprise that Americans should tolerate it. Massachusetts claims to be, and is, the wisest State in the Union. Her population is exceptionally cool, moderate and well educated. She has set a most commendable example of fidelity to her pecuniary engagements, having paid interest on her bonds in gold throughout the war, when she was legally authorized to pay them in paper. Yet her citizens hear with a kind of pleasure that they ought to make these bonds worthless, and attack peaceful people, and inflict great and numbered evils, because Great Britain is trying to deprive them of a doubtful right to fish in a half-dozen bays for cod, the whole worth of which would be lost to the State in one day's panic about war.

The Buffalo (N. Y.) Express thinks that the prospective struggle between the Schurz-Brown party in Missouri and the Administration of President Grant is not in a very promising shape. "The fact is," says the Express, "that Senator Schurz and his party are sagacious enough to see that there can be practically no issue between them and the Administration, unless they make a complete surrender to the Democracy. The President would never have taken issue with them if they had carried on their efforts for enfranchisement in Missouri inside the party. The President is himself committed to such a policy, and his difference with the Missouri bolters was that they sought to disrupt the party in order to carry their policy, instead of seeking to control the policy of the party by remaining with it. Now that they have carried their point, they find that, so far as their political strength is concerned, they have thrown away the meat and kept the bone. The Administration cheerfully acquiesces in the enfranchisement in Missouri, though it may not applaud the means whereby it was secured. The disaffected have no strength of themselves and nothing to stand on outside the Republican party, and they must naturally gravitate back to a position of fealty in order to sustain themselves and be supported in holding on to what little the recent campaign in Missouri has left them in possession of."

The Detroit Post thinks that one important point in the case of the crippled veterans of the Ohio Asylum, in Gen. Schenck's district, should be made prominent. "The inmates of the Asylum are not soldiers; they are not in the United States service—they are simply citizens. On going to the Asylum to reside they did not join the army again. They did not sign any enlistment papers or in any other way enter the United States service. They are free citizens just as much as though they were out of the Asylum. Any man of them can leave whenever he pleases. They are not subject to any orders by United States officers, beyond the obligation to obey the rules of the institution or else leave, just as every guest at a hotel or hospital is bound to do. Therefore the objection of the Copperheads to their voting is all the more ridiculous. A soldier in the United States service may not be a voter elsewhere than at his former home; but suppose a Democratic editor, not entering the United States service, but remaining a citizen just as he now is, should rent a house at Fort Wayne, or break up housekeeping and go and board permanently with one of the officers of the fort, would he lose his citizenship? Would he not be a voter in the ward where the fort is? Would he be disfranchised because of simply boarding on United States land? Certainly not."

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO DECEMBER 15.

French Reverses Continue.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—The French are retreating before Frederick Charles at Beaugency.

BERLIN, Dec. 13.—The Queen has received the following dispatch from King William: German Headquarters, Tuesday.—After four days fighting around Beaugency the French retired to Blois and Tours. Their loss is severe. Many deserters come into our lines here and at Rouen.

(Signed) WILLIAM.

MEUNG, Dec. 13.—Frederick Charles outgeneralled DeChancey, holding his front constantly engaged while he turned his position and he now threatens his right flank and rear by sending the 18th division of the 9th corps along the south bank of the Loire in the direction of Blois. The movement was executed quickly. Since the 9th the Germans have encountered a part of the 15th corps between Mount Vauld and Chambord and drove them across the river at Blois, and they now occupy positions commanding the passage of the river at that point. The 3d and 10th corps of the German army continue to pursue the French toward the south and south-east, but they have not yet proceeded in force beyond Viers.

The report of the occupation of Bourges is incorrect. Spies and prisoners state that there is a considerable French force at Bourges, supposed to be fragments of the 18th and 20th corps.

Surrender of Pfalsburg.

LONDON, Dec. 13, 3 P. M.—Pfalsburg, a stronghold on the Vosges, the siege of which was commenced soon after the battle of Woerth, has surrendered, unconditionally. The Prussians have marched into the place to-day.

French Success Reported.

LILLE, Dec. 13.—It is rumored that La Fere has been re-taken by the French with 850 prisoners and supplies of ammunition and provisions for large masses of troops. All the armies are concentrating here. Mobiles are armed with new American revolvers.

London Dispatches.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—It is reported that Gen. Von Fabrio, the Saxon Minister of War, has been appointed Governor General of Northern France by the King of Prussia.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—A correspondent at Versailles makes the statement that in conversation on the political situation, Bismarck remarked that strong efforts were being made for the restoration of Napoleon; that a Congress on the Eastern question would not be held without a French plenipotentiary; that France had no authority to appoint one just now, and that he would not recognize the authority of gentlemen of the pavement to sit among their betters.

King William is excessively anxious to return to his home, and Von Moltke laments the intense suffering of the German troops on account of cold.

CARLSRUHE, Dec. 13.—The Baden Chambers opened to-day with an address by the Grand Duke, who said he hoped that with the new reforms Germany might obtain the embodiment of national unity now symbolized by the dynasty conferred upon the King of Prussia. The sanction of the Chambers was asked for provisional laws and financial measures made necessary by the war. The speech concludes with the hope that further burdens may be avoided by the early conclusion of a durable peace.

From St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 12.—Advices continue to be received congratulating the Czar upon his action in regard to the treaty of 1856.

Winter has commenced in earnest. The river at Cronstadt is so frozen that it is impossible for ships of war to leave the harbor this year for the Black Sea.

Subscriptions for the construction of a Black Sea fleet are prohibited. Gortschakoff remains firm in his determination to regard the treaty of Paris as abrogated.

Prim Can't Understand.

MADRID, Dec. 8.—Prim cannot understand Grant's message where it refers to redress for injuries. He says it is nothing but a political stratagem, to secure the votes of filibusters.

Movement of Russian Forces.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Russian forces are rapidly concentrating near the Turkish frontier.

From Cuba.

LAKE CITY, Florida, Dec. 14.—Advices received from Havana state that General Seas had arrived from Puerto Principe and reports that the revolution is fast drawing to a close. He doubts whether it will last two weeks longer. Auricochea, Chief of the insurgent staff in the eastern department, while attempting to revolutionize Holquin district, was captured and executed. Cespedes, insurgent superintendent of finances, at Cinco villages, was also captured and executed.

Congressman Arrested for Bigamy.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Representative Bowen of South Carolina, arrested under indictment for bigamy, appeared in court this morning and gave bail in five thousand dollars for his appearance at this session.

News from Paris.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—Food scarce; weather bad. Moltke's letter, announcing the capture of Orleans, causes great excitement. The people are resolved on resistance. The sharpshooters are disbanded for fear of their fighting with the National Guards. Unfortunate dissensions daily occur amongst officers. One commander of artillery refused to obey orders. Ducrot and Blanchard had a quarrel. The latter has been displaced by another officer.

The Luxemburg Question.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 14.—The Independence Belge laments that the Prussian war reports have lost their character for veracity first ascribed to them. The London Times protests against the attitude of Prussia toward Luxemburg as it did against Russia toward Turkey. The attitude of both is indefensible, but it is not England's duty to interfere.

The Austrian Armies.

VIENNA, Dec. 14.—At the sitting of the Hungarian Delegation, Benedict replied to Prince Austria that the Hungarian army consists of 864,804 Regulars and 187,527 Landwehr, with an increase of 378 guns, since 1867. The Regulars possess 899,279 breech loaders, and the Landwehr 137,227 muzzle-loaders. 15,000 more are required.

The Russian Question.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Late foreign mail advices confirm the dispatches of the Berlin correspondent of the London Telegraph that a new treaty will be proposed without neutralization of the Black Sea. A French representative will take his seat on behalf of the Government of National Defense.

A Vienna correspondent of the London Star telegraphs that a council of Ministers held at Pesth on the 2d resolved that Austria would accept the proposed conference only if Russia expressly acknowledged its completeness and withdrew her notification, and lastly, if other powers agree to joint action in case Russia refuses.

A correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says it is stated on good authority that all the powers except France have accepted the proposal for a conference. The date is not yet fixed, but London will be the place of assembling. It is probable that Earl Granville will be requested to act as President.

French War Dispatches.

BORDEAUX, Dec. 14.—No serious engagement since the 10th. The evacuation of the triangle formed by Verneul, Brezzeoles and Doex, is confirmed. In Siene Inferieure, the enemy seems to be withdrawing. Dieppe has been free from Prussians since the 10th. A number of small engagements successful to the French, have occurred on the left bank of the Loire. The Prussians occupy Montfelchard, Romontes and Courtres. Government announces that Havre and Dieppe are not open to neutrals.

Prussian prisoners assert that the losses of the army of Prince Frederick Charles during combats with Chancey, have not been less than 20,000. Villages about his lines are filled with wounded. There is no communication with the north of France. Journals here demand the prompt election of a constituent assembly.

EASTERN STATES.

Political Gossip.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—It is understood that Attorney-General Ackerman will be a candidate for the Senate in the Georgia Legislature, and the vacancy in the Cabinet, in case Ackerman is elected, it is stated on good authority, will be tendered to Senator Williams of Oregon. His appointment will be satisfactory to the Republicans of California and Oregon, by whom he is considered the strongest man on the Pacific coast.

Among other strange Cabinet rumors in circulation, is the one that Boutwell will soon retire from the Treasury Department, and that Delano will succeed him. These reports have been afloat so long with no nearer prospect of fulfill[illegible], that the public will justly hesitate to credit them.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—The steamship Wm. Tabor which recently arrived from New York, will go into a new opposition line between San Francisco, San Diego and way ports, commencing her trips December 22d.

Major A. W. Preston who entered the service in 1861, and is now 27 years of age, is promoted to Colonelcy for services rendered in the war, and placed on the retired list [illegible] would be received. He has been serving on Gen. [illegible]'s staff, and is the youngest Colonel in the Army.

Fatal Affray at Sacramento.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—Last evening, Chas. E. Fisher, business manager of the Sacramento Reporter and State Printing Expert, coming home found a young man named Chas. Dell and a companion visiting his daughter. Fisher ordered Dell out of the house, and the latter refusing to leave, an affray occurred during which Fisher struck Dell several blows on the head with a cane and the latter fired three shots from a revolver, the last of which took effect, instantly killing Fisher. Dell, who was severely injured, was arrested. The daughter was present when the fatal affray occurred.

CURRENT NOTES.

Politicians in Maine have already mapped out new Congressional districts in that State, anticipating that they will lose one member by the new apportionment. The population of these proposed districts ranges from 124,247 to 161,157. At present the difference in population between the First and Second Districts is over 35,000.

An Austrian lieutenant, who got into a quarrel with a tailor of Vienna in the market halls of that city, drew his sword on the unhappy knight of the scissors, and would doubtless have killed him, had it not been for a coterie of market women, who attacked the son of Mars with a basket of greens, utterly defeating him so that he had to retreat, not in good order.

New aspirants for leadership in the Democratic party are springing up, some of them in unexpected localities. The Richmond Enquirer thinks Virginia is once more in position to demand and to take her proper political position, and it insists that its people men ... support the National Democratic party, since they are "entitled" to lead that party and influence its action.

The Union Pacific Railroad Company closed a contract, December 3d with the Far West Freight Line, for a through line from Omaha to all points in Montana and Idaho. This will be the only line authorized over this road for the Territories. It is their intention to adopt such rates as will insure shipment of all Mtn' freight by rail. They also intend to put on a daily line of fast teams from the railroad to all points in Montana.

The idea that the South should, for the sake of peace, accept the situation, regarding what has been done since the war as accomplished facts, is scouted by the Lexington, Ky., Press, which contends that the sole measure of reconstruction legislation, that owed its existence to the wager of battle, is the Thirteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, and that all subsequent amendments or legislation based upon the action of the Southern States, are illegal, revolutionary and void.

Foreign Names.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

We [illegible] would be a little surprised to [illegible] Portuguese or Portu[illegible] map maker had persisted [illegible] the United States of America [illegible] or New Netherlands [illegible] Verezzano or some other [illegible], in the fifteenth or sixteenth century, some early navigator had given us that cognomen. And yet the entire system on which our own names of other nations are constructed must present an equally absurd anomaly to the people of those nations.

Europe and America, for instance, engage periodically in discussing the interests of the Turkish Empire. But there is no Turkey or Turkish Empire in existence, so far as the people who inhabit it are aware. The term "Cherokee Nation," would apply to the United States nearly as well as the term "Turkey" applies to the Osmanli Vilahdi (pronounced Os-man'-lee Ve-la-yet-'ee) or the Osman Empire, sometimes corrupted into the Ottoman Empire. The Ottoman and Turcoman races are not identical, and there seems no other reason than habit, inherited from our ancestors, why the Osman Empire should be known as Turkey throughout Western Europe. Its chief city we style Constantinople, after a mediæval custom, though its inhabitants know it as Stamboul.

Adjoining Turkey we apply the latin term Austria to the empire of Oesterreich—pronounced, nearly, Oesterike. If we should call the empire of Francis Joseph something between an [illegible] and "you strike," we should not [illegible] exactly, but we should have come much nearer to it than we generally do. Its capital is a word of one syllable, which we should pronounce Veen. We invent a new word of three syllables, Vi-en-na. The Germans exercise the same usurpation over France, which they designate Frank-reich, equivalent to Frank Kingdom. Right adjoining Austria is Deutschland (pronounced Doitch-lant) to which we, without the least sanction, apply a name Germany, which we inherit from the latin Germania, though, having lost its latin pronunciation, it is really, as pronounced by Englishmen, a new-coined word which never belonged to any race or country. The French recognize their present enemies by a name which is neither Deutsch nor latin, viz: Allemagne, or descendants of the ancient Allemani. Spain is to us a word of one syllable, while in fact it has three, and, on the contrary, we make three syllables (Switzerland) of Schweiz or Swiss. We take the Deutsch name Sweden for Sverige, pronounced Swa'aree'ia. We designate Egypt by a name to which it is a stranger, and to its capital, Al Masr, we give the name Cairo, a corruption of the Arabic title.

A mere mispronunciation of foreign names is an inevitable necessity. But we fail to see why, in this age of rapid inter-communication and travel, we should designate nations, races, towns, and every subject of geographical knowledge, by names which have either never applied to them at all, or which have long since ceased to be borne by them. It would be a commendable enterprise if some of our publishers of text-books on geography should at least inform their students of the true names of the localities of which they treat, as well as those which have obtained currency in foreign or English-speaking countries.

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 16, 1870

What the Russian Minister Says

M de Catacazy the Russian Minister to this country was recently in New York City, where he made some statements relative to the action of Russia in re-opening the Black Sea question He based his defense of the action taken by his country on the broad ground that the seas should be open for the ships of all nations, and therefore that Russia should not submit to their expulsion from the Black Sea He insisted that Russia is firmly decided to maintain her rights but she does not want war or any territorial aggrandizement 'and he felt sure that 'the sympathies of the American people are for the principles of self-government, for progress and for the liberty of the seas —the principles which he says Russia advocates in the East

It is, says the New York Mail because Russia is so firm and because the purpose lately avowed of re-opening the Black Sea to her navy has been the inevitable result of a settled policy that the irresolute politicians in the English Cabinet are hesitating about a continuance of the bold tone assumed by Earl Granville. R is as mild as a May morning, but as firm as a rock Underneath the glove of silk is the hand of iron, whose grasp will soon be felt around the neck of Turkey—a neck as certain to be wrung within the next ten years as anything in the future is certain to happen

Great Britain would probably feel compelled to fight to prevent this result but the chances are that since France is paralyzed Great Britain would be worsted Her allies, Austria, Italy and Turkey, would be a poor set to depend on. They would all be in London to borrow money before a month and though England might subsidize them for a time, her present debt is so heavy that she can't stand much more of that sort of thing

Taxation and Revenue

In the report of Mr Delano Commissioner of Internal Revenue, he gives the comparative figures of the collection of revenue during the last eighteen months of Andrew Johnson's administration, and the first eighteen months under Grant. The tables compare as follows

	From Sept 1, 1867, to Feb 28 1869	From March 1, 1869 to Aug 31, 1870
Receipts	$241 820,766	$291,492,827

This shows an increase of revenue to the amount of $49,672,041 But in the latter eighteen months taxes which had yielded $52,216,616 had been repealed, showing a total gain in the collection exceeding $100,000,000 This result, says the Chicago Tribune, establishes the two facts that an honest collection of the taxes is but justice to those who pay them, and that a reduction of the rate and of the number of objects of taxation does not involve a loss of revenue In Johnson's time the tax on whisky was two dollars per gallon, and during the eighteen months covered by this estimate $41,678,000 were collected from spirits During the second eighteen months the specific tax was fifty cents per gallon, and the revenue collected was $82,477,000 The rate of tax on tobacco was also largely reduced, and the revenue therefrom increased from $29,327,000 to 56,504,000 Yet there was not a gallon more of spirits nor a pound more of tobacco sold during the one period than there was in the other On other articles taxes which yielded $52,000 000 have been repealed. Yet the revenue has not diminished, and the reduction of the debt goes on as rapidly as ever This financial showing justly gives strength to the Administration and secures for it the confidence of the people

General Butler's idea that a foreign war would reunite the South and the North is not endorsed by the Southern press The Charleston News thinks the Southern people have had enough of fighting for the present, and it characterizes the idea that our Southern brethren are eager to do battle against a foreign foe from a sentimental love for the old flag as a wild one, founded upon a thorough misconception of their temper and spirit. The Richmond Whig also says the Southern people have no desire for any war, and the Petersburg Index is positively certain that nothing can be further from the wish or intention of the people of that section than to fight under any flag, however starry, or in any cause whatsoever

The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce asserts that in moving for the abrogation of the Paris treaty, the Emperor of Russia depended greatly upon the moral support of the United States, and that he has been sorely disappointed Just why any of the potentates of Europe should expect the support of the United States in their schemes of aggrandizement does not clearly appear

Beriah Brown, in the Olympia Standard gives his views of the Herald of this city, under its present management. Alluding to that paper s course in filling its columns solely with Ben Holladay he, (Brown) says 'This thing of running the leading Democratic paper of the State exclusively to oppose one man, is disgusting to every Democrat with any self respect for party '

The Helena (Montana) Herald learns that the Northern Pacific railroad company intend to transport railroad material by the Missouri river next spring to some point within that territory and commence work on the road, building both east and west This plan no doubt is feasible, but how good the Montana paper s authority is, we do not know

Since the present administration came into power the public debt has been reduced to the extent of 191,154,765 dollars At this rate the reduction will exceed 400,000,000 dollars by the close of Grant s first term The San Francisco Commercial Herald may well say that ' there is nothing in history to parallel such wondrous financial achievement '

The Census of Colorado shows the population of the Territory to be nearly 55 000—a gain of 20,000 since 1864. An effort is making to secure the admission of Colorado into the Union as a State She hasn t population enough, though for that matter she has considerably more than Oregon had on her admission into the Union

There is a manifest reaction throughout the country on the subject of base ball The leading clubs have generally disbanded Base ball has had its day Not many people are sorry It has gone out like the velocipede mania But what next? Who will get up a new hobby horse?

The engineers of the Northern Pacific Railroad have discovered vast veins of coal on the line of the road in the valley of the Missouri sufficient to furnish fuel forever for locomotives over the woodless sections of the route

OREGON

The Baker City Democrat says the stories of small pox in that region are very much exaggerated

On the 8th inst snow fell in Powder river valley (Baker county) to the depth of eight inches Sleighing was good

Marion Station on the railroad has been moved four miles further south, and is now located twelve miles beyond Salem

The Baker City people are having fun on skates Indications are that the Wallamet people will have some of the same kind of fun ere long

The States m says that the Medical Faculty at Salem have come to the conclusion that the "prevailing disease" is small pox Wise medicine men Medical science is advancing at Salem

The State Treasurer remembers that during the late session of the Legislature many of the members were fond of lounging around on the sofas in his office He is afraid that the gentlemen among whom the small pox was generated and scattered it all over the State, may have left some of it about his premises therefore he is adopting sundry methods of cleansing, of fumigation of deodorization and all that sort of thing

THE TERRITORIES

The Idaho Legislature has adopted a memorial to Congress asking for an increase of salaries for Federal officials in that Territory

The Olympia Tribune wants the Sound people to go to putting up clams. They have clams enough to supply the world, that's certain

A great ditch is projected on the Jefferson river in Montana, to carry 15,000 inches of water It is the intention to irrigate a country about as large as Massachusetts for farming purposes

From the Walla Walla Statesman The bills contracted on account of the late Agricultural Fair still remain unpaid Add to this the fact that in a number of instances the premiums awarded are unsettled, and we have a specimen of management that is discreditable to all concerned

From the Boise Statesman We have interviewed parties lately from Loon Creek, who report that recent prospects have been obtained which bid fair to make Loon Creek a better camp than appearances indicated after the opening la t summer They say that excellent prospects have been obtained in the long bar on which the town of Oro Grande is built About one hundred white men and seventy five Chinamen will winter there

From the Walla Walla Union Alex Lynch, the man who shot his wife in this place over a year ago, has been an outlaw ever since, dodging around trying to get a chance to kill one or two against whom he holds malice, was in town one night in the fore part of this week He went to the house where she, that used to be his wife, now lives, and where he has frequently been before, with the avowed intention of killing her and her present husband Lynch rode around the house on a horse probably watching an opportunity to shoot, when the woman stepped out, unobserved by him, and went and informed Sheriff McAuliff The Sheriff, accompanied by Deputy Thompson, a double barreled shotgun, and other firearms, went to the house but Lynch had gone They waited a short time and he returned on horse back. When in good hailing distance, the Sheriff ordered him to stand, but he did not stand worth a cent, but just threw himself on one side of his horse a la Camanche and started off on the double quick At this time a dose of buck shot started in pursuit, followed quickly by sundry pistol balls, but it is uncertain whether or not any of them overtook him At all events, he got away, and we have not heard from him since

Sale of the St Paul and Pacific Railroads to the Northern Pacific.

The New York Tribune, of November 23d, had the following very important announcement

"The Northern Pacific Railroad Company has purchased of E D Litchfield, of London, the main and branch lines of the St Paul and Pacific Railroad—about 300 miles in length. Mr Litchfield is to complete the main line to Breckinridge From this point it will be extended to the Great Bend of the Missouri The extension of the branch to Pembina on the British boundary line will be commenced immediately. We understand that the principal officers of the St Paul and Pacific retain their positions "

Mr. E D Litchfield, the gentleman referred to, arrived in this city this evening, accompanied by Mr L Wilmar, of London, the gentleman through whom the bonds of the St Paul and Pacific Railroad Company were negotiated at Amsterdam On being replied to by a reporter of the Press, to ascertain whether the startling information contained in the above paragraph was correct, it was corroborated by them in every particular The sale was effected in New York on last Tuesday Mr Litchfield disposing of his entire interest, and he and Mr Wilmar return on Tuesday next to complete the arrangements While the principal officers of the company will retain their positions as at present, there will be some change in the Directory in consequence of the retirement of Mr Litchfield from the company

Mr Litchfield declined to give any information at present as to the terms and conditions of the sale, and as to the future policy of the Northern Pacific Company, in relation to these lines, beyond what is contained in the above paragraph to the Tribune, except to express his belief that the sale would redound to the advantage of the State at large and of St Paul in particular, as it removed all and ground of conflict between the companies made them one in interest We understand from another source that Mr Wilmar to whose agency in the negotiation of the bonds of the St Paul and Pacific that enterprise is mainly due, will now take hold of the bonds of the Northern Pacific, and that the Amsterdam parties are to be financial agents of that company in Europe

There can be no question of the correctness of Mr Litchfield s judgment that the consolidation of the St Paul and Pacific with the Northern Pacific will redound to the advantage of the State of St Paul and both of the systems of roads which it now unites under one control They are in fact, inseparable parts of the same great system, and by their consolidation, the Northern Pacific obtains the much needed advantage of a direct outlet to the Mississippi river and Chicago makes the St Paul and Pacific an integral part of the great highway between the oceans and lifts it up from a mere isolated local system to the importance of a leading continental trunk line It solves also the question of the position of St Paul in relation to the Northern Pacific railway system and makes it the Mississippi base or starting point of that great thoroughfare

Two highly important results are already assured by the sale of the road

First The immediate extension of the main line of the St Paul and Pacific to Breckinridge and thence to the Great Bend of the Missouri and,

Second, The immediate extension of the branch line from St Cloud to Pembina —St Paul Press Nov 27th

SENATOR WILLIAMS AGAIN —The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald on the 28th ult telegraphed

Senator Williams, of Oregon had a protracted interview with the President to day It is stated that Senator Williams will be appointed Attorney General in place of Mr Akerman, and that arrangements have been made by which Akerman, who, as well as Williams, is a strong supporter of the Administration, will be elected to the United States Senate from Georgia The recent visit of Senator Cameron and other prominent Pennsylvania politicians to Georgia was partly to pave the way for Akerman's election The influence of those Pennsylvania Republicans being exerted for Akerman in the interest of the Administration, it is expected that the President will select a Pennsylvanian for Commissioner of Internal Revenue or Commissioner of Patents

The President has ordered a survey of the Creek and Seminole cessions in the Indian Territory west of the 96th degree, to be made, the object being to divide these lands, which have never yet been surveyed, into small lots on which Indian families desiring to improve their condition, may settle

Accident

ALBANY Dec 15 —Last Saturday a man named Sampson while working in Cartwright s warehouse in this city fell from a platform made of loose boards, breaking and dislocating his wrist

WAR MISCELLANY

The Surgeon General of the Bavarian army Dr Von Nussbaum Professor of Medicine in Munich performed, after one of the recent battles in France, with the assistance of five other surgeons in two days, amputations and operations on more than thirty two hundred persons

The King of Prussia has caused a special notice to be published in the Staats Anzeiger announcing that the judicial investigation into the cause of the explosion at Laon had resulted in unquestionable proof of the complete innocence, of any complicity on the part of the late French commandant, General Theremin d'Hame, since died of his own hurts

How the popular sympathy runs in England in regard to the European war, is best shown by the amounts contributed for the wounded of the two nations. While the German Aid Society of England at the head of which is the Queen herself, has collected so far about thirteen hundred thousand dollars the Society to aid the French wounded has only sent about six thousand dollars to France

A French Republican paper asserts that the present misfortunes which have overtaken France are but a just punishment for the ridicule which the French people, which claims to be the most liberty-loving in the world, heaped on the popular army of Prussia, which is called a disorganized mob of tailors and cobblers Their regular army, which they deemed so much superior, the same organ adds, has sadly betrayed them in the hour of need

Some weeks ago the German Military Governor at Versailles authorized the publication of three political journals at that place, and these criticized the German army and King William, sometimes bitterly As nothing was said to them about it, one of them, the Gazette, encouraged by the indifference, launched forth a violent article on the German troops and on Germans But now the journalist was arrested and all three journals suppressed at once.

The Kreuz Zeitung, of Berlin, explains the mysterious action of Admiral Willaumez, who commands the French fleet, in returning with his fleet at such an advanced season to German seas without making any offensive movements, by stating that he as well as all the subordinate commanders, are violent Bonapartists and want to keep the fleet out of the clutches of Gambetta and his clique in the hope that a restoration of the Emperor Napoleon will soon take place

The Journal de Tours reports the following instance of sang froid in the midst of danger at the battle of Orleans A young Mobile had asked his officer for a drink, and the latter was about to pour it into the tin cup which the private held in his hand, when a hostile bullet carried the cup out of his hand The young soldier turned to the officer with a smile and said ' Fortunately it was still empty ' Then he took the canteen and drank from it as calmly as if nothing had happened

The first French flag captured by the Germans was taken by a Jew from Berlin A banker of that city had offered a prize of one thousand louis for this achievement, and so our Jew hastened to that town and got his money The Israelites of Berlin felt considerably elated over the exploit of one of their own number, and so they gave him a banquet at which he was requested to relate the manner in which the flag had been taken But their enthusiasm was considerably abated when he informed them that it had not been so dangerous a thing for he had gone snooks on the matter with a French Jewish ensign of his acquaintance, who had delivered to him the flag for an even share of the profits

STRONG GOVERNMENT —The London Saturday Review holds "that the example of Germany will introduce a new element into our political theories an element which has long been deficient and much needed Already even before the present war broke out this was seen in the education bill of last session All human action involves reaction there is an undulation backward and forward in all the affairs of men A century ago the Democratic idea emanating from America, spread over the nations of Europe and was a spark among the ready prepared tinder Perhaps a century hence the same idea will have another outburst But now there is a felt need of strong government Men cannot forever be led by their mother instincts they demand that these should be comprehended and denominated by a central power which alone can give to all the greatest measure of satisfaction

FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 16, 1870.

CITY.

SENTENCE OF GEORGE BARGMAN.—Geo. Bargman, convicted of "robbery, being armed with a dangerous weapon," was brought up yesterday morning in the Circuit Court for sentence. Being asked by Judge Upton what he had to say why sentence should not now be pronounced, Bargman replied that he had little to say except that he was about to be sentenced for a crime of which he was as innocent as an unborn babe; that he was not in Portland nor its vicinity when the robbery of John Holton was perpetrated. He did not deny that he was an escaped convict from the Washington Territory penitentiary. He and Tilton and two others escaped from the penitentiary at Steilacoom together, but after traveling together for a few miles, they disagreed as to the best way of getting out of the country and separated. He (Bargman) then worked his way along the outskirts of the settlements, subsisting as best he could—living at one time for five days on berries only—till he reached the State line and passed into California. He then went to work in a mine near Cottonwood, for a man named Coulter, till Coulter finally sold his claim, and then he and Coulter went into partnership in the blacksmithing business, which he followed till arrested. He had never been in Portland since his escape from the Steilacoom jail till brought here under arrest a few days since. The witnesses who testified to having seen him here, had sworn falsely, either through mistake as to his identity or purposely. He thought it might be easily supposed that some of them were mistaken, as one man might be readily taken for another. His remarks were delivered with some coolness, showing him to be a man of at least ordinary intelligence. The Judge pronounced the sentence—ten years' confinement in the penitentiary. The prisoner manifested but little emotion, either at the sentence or at seeing, as he turned to accompany the officers below, an immense audience in the body of the court room.

POLICE COURT ABSTRACTS.—The Police Judge has caused to be printed and ruled in proper lines and columns, pages of abstracts, on which are to be ... each month, a full statement of all cases, for what offences, fines imposed, fines collected, terms of imprisonment, and all other material facts in each State and city case. From an abstract of State cases for November we obtain the following information: Whole number of arrests in State cases, 38; sum of fines imposed, $179, of which $80 was paid, and $90 remains unpaid; aggregate of days of imprisonment in the county jail, 173. From a similar abstract of cases from December 1st to the 15th, inclusive, we learn that the sum of $183 has been collected in State cases, and $108.65 in city cases.

PORTLAND LIBRARY.—The following books have been added to the Portland Library: "The ... Brothers," by Mrs. Oliphant; "Estelle Russell;" "Veronica;" Pope's "Homer's Odyssey;" "The Blockade," by M. E. Chatrian; Pope's "Homer's Iliad;" "Lives of the Founders of the British Museum," by Edwards; "Mystery of Edwin Drood," by Charles Dickens; ...ake's Pioneer Life in Kentucky." Also, donated by Rev. T. L. Eliot: "Hints to Young Men," by John Ware; "Is it I?" by Storer; "Why Not?" by Storer; "Steps of Relief," by ...e F. Clarke.

THE BOGGS-MORRILL TRIAL.—This was a suit for $10,000 damages for breach of promise—was on trial yesterday. A considerable part of the ... was just of that nature which some prurient minds as attractive, and the court room was, therefore, pretty well filled with spectators. One or two gentlemen who spent the entire day there, accounted for it by saying they came up to hear Bargman's sentence!

AN ATTEMPT UPON THE WEATHER.—We noticed on our rounds yesterday that one or two boys had their skates hung on their outer walls—a clear case of an attempt to force the season. The nipping and eager air of yesterday morning was, however, mildly suggestive of winter weather, and the attack upon the weather may be partly overlooked if not forgiven.

NEW CASES OF SMALL POX.—It is reported that there is a new case of small pox in this city—... Farrell, residing on Fifth street between Alder and Washington. He probably contracted the ... at Salem, as he has been engaged on the railroad all the season. We hear, too, that a case has been developed at Oregon City—... Dodge.

MARINE.—The bark Almatia was towed up today by the tug boat Astoria. As she was ...ing the steamship dock, she ran upon the wreck of the old French ship, sunk at the lower end of the dock. Here the tug left her, to get and haul up to the dock as best she might. The Almatia has a full cargo of merchandise.

THE ENGINES.—Chief Engineer Holman informs us that No. 2, engine has been repaired and is now again in service. He has declared No. 4 engine out of service till the grading of First street and the platform in front of the house shall be ...ed. At present the engine cannot conveniently be run out of the house.

BOARD OF DELEGATES.

CANVASS OF VOTES FOR CHIEF AND ASSISTANT ENGINEERS—EXEMPT CERTIFICATES GRANTED.

The Board of Delegates of the Fire Department held a meeting last evening, as per law, for the purpose of canvassing the votes and declaring the result of the late election of Chief and Assistant Engineers of the Fire Department.

Present—A. B. Hallock, President, in the Chair; Ed. F. Albright, Secretary; Al Zieber, Treasurer, and Messrs. J. H. Lyon, P. D. W. Hardenburgh, C. Ball, Jas. Bennett, C. H. Marvin, E. D. Backenstos, delegates.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

CANVASS OF THE LATE ELECTION.

The President declared the first business in order to be the canvass of the votes cast at the late election for Chief and Assistant Engineers, and directed The Secretary to read the report of the Judges of Election. According to this document, Robert Holman received for Chief Engineer 106 votes; for Assistant Engineers, Jacob Koenig received 69 votes, G. W. Hansel 64, H. Northrop 46, scattering 2.

On motion Robert Holman was declared elected Chief Engineer; Jacob Koenig First Assistant, and G. W. Hansel Second Assistant. The President and Secretary were directed to issue to them certificates of election.

EXEMPT CERTIFICATES GRANTED.

Mr. C. Ball, from the Committee on Certificates, to whom was referred the applications of C. C. Phillips and S. N. Arrigoni for exempt certificates, reported that the applicants had served the requisite time and were entitled to exempt certificates.

On motion, the report was adopted and the Secretary was directed to issue the certificates.

EXEMPT CERTIFICATES APPLIED FOR.

The application of W. H. D. Joyce, of Protection Company, No. 4, and L. Lemline, of Willamette Co. No. 1, for exempt certificates, were read and referred to the Committee on Certificates.

The bill of L. Kiernan, for attending to the Firemen's Block in Lone Fir Cemetery, the last year—$20—was received, read and an order was ordered drawn for its payment.

On motion the Board adjourned.

AMUSEMENTS.

ORO FINO THEATER.—Camille was played last evening—Mrs. Bates in the title role, Mr. Bates as Armand, Mr. Vinson as Mons. Duval, and other characters by a good cast. We have too often had occasion to express our admiration of the finished acting of the persons named, in this drama, to render any comment necessary now. It is enough to say that each of them sustained their characters with all their accustomed ability, and that, as is always the case, the audience were entirely satisfied. Mr. Bates made a splendid scene in the fourth act, and Mrs. Bates was finely effective in the last or dying act.

MR. COOKE'S BENEFIT.—The bill for Mr. Cooke's benefit to-night is a great one. The drama of "Oliver Twist," from Dickens' novel of that name, will be presented for the first time in Portland—Mrs Bates in the character of Nancy Sykes. Mr. Cooke will favor the audience with a series of oriental performances; Mr. Bosco will perform some of his favorite tricks in magic, and then the prize conundrums will be read—the best to draw a prize of a silver cup.

THE REBEKAH DEGREE BALL.—Armory Hall had last evening such an assemblage of the "beauty and chivalry" and all that, as has not been witnessed here in many months. The management seems to have been in most competent hand, for the party was not only highly successful, in point of pecuniary benefit to the Degree Lodge, but it was a most pleasant affair socially.

BUSINESS NOTICES.—HENRY MARTIN notifies the public through our advertising columns that he has a fine stock of groceries, fresh fruit, vegetables, game and poultry for sale at his store on First street.

SHANAHAN—See Shanahan's advertisement in to day's paper, and then go and see his pictures.

S. L. STONE, corner of First and Washington streets, is in the market with a million toys and dolls.

C. H. WOODARD & Co. have re-opened the Oregon Dispensatory, on First street, where they keep a fine assortment of drugs, medicines, etc.

RUSSELL & FERRY are about to publish a new map of Portland and East Portland, which they invite all interested persons to call and examine with a view to the correction of errors.

"Mr. George Francis Train has been still further distinguishing himself," writes a Marseilles correspondent of the London Standard. "He was waited upon by a deputation of fair ladies—I do not know whether the term is justly applied—one of whom is unmarried, one married, the third a mother, and the fourth a widow, so that they may be taken fairly to represent the various categories of female kind. Addressing him as honorable and worthy citizen, they thanked him in the name of France for his generous sympathetic assistance, and presented him with a boquet. In a sort of postscript to their address, they state that they are engaged as volunteers, and begged him to use his influence with M. Esquiros to call out a levee en masse of women to fly to the rescue of their country. The 'Citizen Train' replied thus interjectionally to the address of the maid, the wife, the mother, and the widow: 'A thousand thanks! To arms! Forward! March! Vive les filles de Saragossa and Jean d'Arc! To Berlin! War to the knife! Vive la Republique! Down with Prussia! Yours sincerely till death, George Francis Train.'"

BOYS' WATCHES.—B. L. Stone received by last steamer a lot of Silver Watches, made on purpose for boys. They will make nice Christmas presents, and are very cheap. His stock of ladies' Gold Watches and Chains cannot be surpassed in this city. Persons wishing to purchase, should not buy elsewhere until they inquire Mr. Stone's prices.

AT HENRY MARTIN'S GROCERY STORE on Alder street between First and Second, you can get fresh New Jersey Cranberries, as large as cherries, just received by Pacific Railroad.

Also California Grapes, Oranges, and all fruits of the season, fresh and delicious.

Also a Splendid Assortment of Fresh Vegetables and Groceries, including Fresh Butter, Eggs and fine old Cheese.

Also all kinds of Game and fat Poultry.

He keeps nothing but the BEST ARTICLES for his customers.

Why is it that Kohn & Fishel keep the largest supply of Clothing in this city?

Because their sales require it.

Why can they afford to sell cheaper than any other house?

Because they buy in large quantities and get them cheaper, and because they are satisfied with small profits and quick returns, which system has brought them an enormous trade, and made them first in their business in the city.

The steamer yesterday brought for B. L. STONE a large lot of Gold and Silver Watches and Chains for men, boys and ladies. Also, lots of Diamonds, Jewelry, Charms, Gold and Silver Card Cases, Porte Monies, Ladies' Work Boxes, Music Boxes, and a thousand more beautiful things for holiday presents. Call early, so as to get the first chance.

December is here, with her storms and her rain,
And it makes the folks of cold weather complain.
Hark ye, dear gentlemen, this need not be so,
You can all be kept warm, for O'NEIL & CO.
Can fit you so nicely, so snug and so warm,
With CLOTHES that are proof 'gainst the bitterest storm,
And they sell them so cheaply, that all who go there,
Unlike Flora McFlimsey, can find something to wear.

Look here, reader, we do not wish to tell you that consumption can be cured when the lungs are half consumed, nor that Dr. Wonderful, or any other fellow, has discovered a remedy that will make men live forever and leave death to play for want of work. No, you have heard enough of that, and we do not wonder that you have by this time become disgusted with it. But when we tell you that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will positively cure the worst cases of Catarrh, we only assert that which thousands can testify to. Try it and you will be convinced. Sent by mail for sixty cents. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by druggists.

NEGLECTED COUGHS AND COLDS.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "Common Cold," in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon preys upon the Lungs. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES or COUGH LOZENGES afford instant relief.

Owing to the good reputation and popularity of the Troches, many worthless and cheap imitations are offered which are good for nothing. Be sure to obtain the true BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES. Sold everywhere.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, Thursday, Dec. 15, 1870.

Gold at New York to-day, 111¼.

Legal tenders quotable at 90 buying, and 91¼@91½ selling.

Exchange on San Francisco—coin ¼ of one per cent premium, currency ½ of one per cent.

Exchange on New York 1½ per cent.

Telegraphic Transfers 1¾ per cent.

Bank rates of interest, 1 per cent, outside rates, 1½@2 per cent.

Oregon bounty and relief bonds, 85@87½c, State warrants 87c@par.

U. S. 5-20 bonds have gone up to a fraction over 97c in coin, or 107¾ in currency. The steady appreciation of our bonds since 1864, is shown in the following table:

	Gold.	5-20s, '62 Currency Price.	Gold Value
July, 1864	260¼	105¼	40 53
January, 1865	216½	108½	49 94
July, 1865	141¾	107½	73.11
January, 1866	141¼	103¼	76 43
July, 1866	150¾	106¼	70 52
January, 1867	134¾	101	75.34
July, 1867	141	111½	75 01
January, 1868	137¾	106¾	77.31
July, 1868	144¾	113¼	79 00
January, 1869	136¾	112¼	82.29
July, 1869	136¾	122	89 30
December, 1869	121¼	114	9[illegible]
July, 1870	121	109¼	91 83
December, 1870	110½	107½	97.12
December, 15th	111¼	107¾	97.05

It is estimated that in the seven years covered by this table $1,250,000,000 of these bonds have been sold to the English and Germans, and their purchases have caused the price constantly to advance. The price has gone up from 40 to 97, and the average sales were probably 75.

Local finances continue to be comparatively satisfactory.

The [illegible] market exhibits an unwonted activity for the advanced [illegible] in winter. We find dealers in dry goods, hardware and groceries particularly, doing a fair business. Hitherto, the first half of December has been, almost invariably, a dull period. This year, the aggregate of sales will show quite respectable figures. The quotations are generally as heretofore given.

There is but little to note in the grain and produce market. During the last week, the arrivals were considerably larger than the average heretofore—due to a slight rise in the Wallamet, enabling the boats to make one trip to the upper portions of the valley. The river has again receded, however, and the receipts to be anticipated will be meagre. There are only two or three changes in quotations. Butter, particularly first quality, is very scarce and the price has advanced materially. Eggs are becoming plentier and prices are easing off.

San Francisco Markets.

From the Commercial Herald of the 9th inst. we take the following paragraphs:

By reason of the inclement weather, we have a diminished movement in breadstuffs to note. This, of course, is a temporary check to business. There are now on berth for wheat eight or more vessels their registered tonnage, 9,211 tons. These will all doubtless be dispatched before New Year. Thus far during the harvest year, we have exported upward of 80,000 barrels flour, being less than half the quantity exported in a corresponding period last year. Of wheat, our exports in same time approximate 3,000,000 centals. This is a good exhibit for five months. During the same period our receipts of flour and wheat combined, show a falling off of a million sacks, as compared with same period last year (five months). Even this is a good exhibit for a short crop season, particularly when all agree that we have yet a large surplus of breadstuffs remaining—computed by those well versed in the matter, to be about 100,000 tons. This aggregate will give us our full estimated surplus, which in July last was placed at 250,000 tons. At present, our millers are unemployed, at least few of them find any inducement to run more than half of the time.

Our grain and flour marts are well sustained, though at the moment but few transactions are reported. The [illegible] racle is now advertised for Hong Kong, and there are good prospects of her being able to secure a full cargo flour and other commodities, although at this date but [illegible] purchases have been made public.

Barley is less firmly held, and so of other feed grains, which is the natural result of [illegible] rains, bringing forth new grass with abundance of pasturage for cattle, thus doing away with the necessity of dry fodder.

Hay sympathizes with this decline in values; while potatoes keep up astonishingly. Beans, on the contrary, continue to be a drug on the market.

There is but little business doing in wool, hides and leather at this season of the year. The wool clip has nearly all been marketed; receipts as well as stock very meager. Hides have been in diminished supply all the year—the demand for shipping not equaled, while the local demand has been active at good prices.

Tallow is quite plentiful, and with a light demand, rates favor the buyer.

Hops appear to be neglected, though the samples sent East are well spoken of in the New York papers.

The dairy supply is continued, and from this time on will doubtless be largely increased, as the result of seasonable rains and good pasturage.

Fruit—We are in receipt of 574 boxes Oregon apples, in bad order, and sold from the wharf at 40@50 cents per box. Small consignments of Oregon cranberries have made their appearance, and are of good quality. A. Lusk & Co., of the Pacific Fruit Market, furnish us with the following prices: Apples, per box—Bell Flower and Rhode Island Greenings, $1a1 50; Baldwin, $1 25a1 50; N. Y. Pippin, $1 50a2, Spitzenberg, $1 50@2.

The receipts of certain articles of Oregon produce from January 1st to date, have been as follows: Flour, qr sks, 524,769; wheat, sks, 42,781; oats, sks, 15,413; salmon, bbls, 4,087; hf bbls, 3,414; cases, 20,686; pkgs, 229; bacon, pkgs, 4,335; beef hf bbls, 200; butter, pkgs, 1,973; hams, pkgs, 823; lard, pkgs, 1,505; pork, bbls, 2,532; dried apples, pkgs, 3,686.

Matters up the Columbia.

The Walla Walla Union of the 10th has the following items:

PACK TRAINS.—Many of the pack trains belonging to residents of this valley are returning daily. The season for freighting to the mining camps is now practically over for the season, and trains are going into winter quarters. Many of the animals look well to have run without rest throughout the busy season. Freighting by teams, however, is still going on to Lewiston and other accessible points. The shipments of flour have been heavy this fall; but no point, as we can hear of, has an over supply. We anticipate a lively spring trade in flour.

NEW COMERS.—There is a steady tide of immigration setting in to this portion of the Territory; and, although there is no rush, the influx, so quiet, is so steady, that if it continues for the next three years as it has for the last three months, our population will be doubled. Some of these new comers are from the Pacific States and Territories, but quite a number are from the Atlantic side. We see some from Chicago who are looking out for farms for themselves and friends at home. There are also a few direct from Europe. Only a few days ago a family of fifteen members, who left England but three months ago, arrived here and purchased a farm on Dry Creek, where they are now living and seem well pleased with the country. And while so many are now coming we can say to those who wish to come that there yet is room. Eastern Washington has really only just commenced to fill up, and there is room enough to furnish homes for thousands of families in the most beautiful and fertile valleys on the coast. But those who wish to get the best places will have to come soon, as it will not be long until this country will cease to be overlooked.

The Walla Walla Statesman of the 10th says:

Mr. J. T. Reese informs us that he is now butchering and expects to cut up and cure 100,000 pounds of pork this season. Mr. R. is the largest single operator in the pork line, but we have a number of others who will kill all the way from 25 to 200 hogs, and so the aggregate pork crop will be large.

From the Sandwich Islands.

The Honolulu Advertiser, of the 19th ult., has the following:

"Our market for lumber is lower than it has been for years, and we see no prospect of an early improvement. The rate in past years has, however, been too high. Cheap lumber is a boon to the community. We learn that the Collector-General has notified some of the importing houses that invoices of lumber will not be admitted for entry except at certain rates. We presume that the "actual cost at the place of export" is the basis on which goods have to be invoiced for duties, and on the actual cost and value there would not, in most cases be room for much discussion. In the case of lumber from Puget Sound, however, it may be more difficult to ascertain the true cost or value. We observe Puget Sound lumber quoted in San Francisco at $[illegible] M., and allowing any reasonable figure for freight, would reduce by this test, the value of lumber at the Sound to a very low figure."

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 62 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without injury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails in effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicine promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 1,957

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands co-terminous with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 12 M February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870.

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government: The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees, and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim, he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit, at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect.
